

EMMA MCCOY

LJWL MEMORIES

I'll never forget when my poetry book copies got shipped to campus and I was running through the halls showing everyone I could. It was so much fun! Perhaps the funniest thing that's happened in the department is when we put a 'literature march madness' bracket up in the Media Room and we were all arguing whether Beowulf or Rime of the Ancient Mariner was better.

WHAT'S NEXT

I'm excited to be getting my M.A. in Writing from PLNU and expanding my storytelling and teaching skills!

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

I hope I continue to delight in reading and share that love with others.

Literature, B.A.

Writing Minor,
Driftwood Co-Editor,
The Point Copy Editor,
Writing Center Tutor